Watched Two Die During 3 Days of Tragedy, Terror at Sea

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A husky 14-year-old boy, who watched two men die as they drifted on a flimsy raft, was recovering in a hospital today after three days of tragedy and terror at sea.

Terry McClelland, a blond high school athlete from Huntington Beach, Calif., was rescued Friday by a fishing boat 90 miles southwest of San Diego. Transferred to a submarine, he off Mexico last Tuesday, Bradford arrived Friday night in San Diego. He was pronounced in fairly good condition at a hospital.

He told newsmen a rambling tale about three terrible days of shipwreck, thirst, delirium, death, hunger, heat and blinding glare of sun, sea and sky.

He and his companions—Russell Bradford, 48, of Huntington Beach, his mother's stepfather, and Alvin Hartman, 57, of nearby Santa Ana, Bradford's friend—set out for a month's fishing cruise.

The three fishermen got aboard a six-by-three-foot raft of balsa wood and cork. Its bottom consisted only of rope netting through which a few timbers were looped, and water sloshed through the bottom continually.

They tried to attract several passing vessels Wednesday, their first day on the raft. Although they waved rags and poles, no one stopped.

They had no food or water, only a few packs of cigarettes.

Then, the boy continued, "My grandfather went crazy from seeing Al go crazy. He kept screaming and yelling and falling into the water."

"I kept telling him: 'Grandad, don't die, don't leave me here alone!'"

"He started falling in the water and the raft turned over," the boy added. "Grandad got him back on the raft and gave him mouth-to-mouth respiration. But it didn't work."

After Hartman died, Bradford lashed the body to the raft.

Then, the boy continued, "My grandfather went crazy from seeing Al go crazy. He kept rescuers recovered Hartman's body but Bradford's body slipped from the raft and disappeared.

The boy drank broth and later was transferred to the submarine USS Diocion, on maneuvers in the area.

He slept most of the time aboard the sub and spoke little of his ordeal. He came ashore in a stretcher, sunburned and shoeless.

He and his mother embraced tearfully. Terry's father, George McClelland, is estranged from Mrs. McClelland and resides at Salinas, Calif.

Youth Saved Him

Terry told his mother: "I'm all right, mother, but I don't want to talk about it."

After a brief talk with newsmen, the boy was taken to Balboa Naval Hospital. There, a doctor said he had suffered only from malnutrition and exposure but was in fairly good condition. The doctor added: "His youth saved him."

Trio Slain In Algiers, Docks Idle

ALGIERS (AP) — Hundreds of Moslems swarmed into the streets of Algiers today and fought police in an anti-French outburst.

The French news agency said three Moslems were shot dead and two wounded. One policeman and a French army lieutenant were reported wounded.

The fighting broke out when the Moslems waving rebel flags and chanting nationalist slogans massed in the workers' quarter of the city.

Moslems on March

Traffic was largely tied up and the huge dock area crippled as Moslems marched to a strike call by the rebel FLN (Front de Liberation Nationale).

One report from the predominantly Arab town of Blida, southwest of Algiers, said Moslems were on the march and that five had been wounded in fights with police.

Swinging clubs, police rushed groups of Moslems in Algiers where defiant youths shouted the slogan of the rebellion against French rule.

Authorities reported the port of Oran to the west, was the scene of a Moslem strike but there were no reports of violence.

Asks Demonstration

Friday night Mohammed Yazid, spokesman for the rebel FLN called from Tunis headquarters for a demonstration July 5 against proposed French partition of Algeria.

Presumably emotional elements among the Moslems did not want to wait and took to the streets early today in the steaming summer heat.

French president Charles de Gaulle, on a grass-roots tour of Lorraine, has told crowds that unless a suitable settlement of the six-year-old Algerian war could be reached, the French would divide the country between Moslems and the one million members of the European community.

Blow-Up Feared

This would mean that the Europeans—protected by French military forces—would stay in the big coastal cities while the nine (Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Mrs. Vincent G. Connolly of Kingston was elected vice president, defeating Benson A. Krom of Hurley, also by a vote of 5 to 4.

Named to Board in '57

Schneider, who was appointed to the board of education by Mayor Frederick H. Stang in 1957, succeeds Robert H. Herzog as president of the board. Mrs. Connolly succeeds Robert O'Reilly.

The board, in a brief meeting, also amended a resolution which

Trial Scheduled At Stewart Base On Tower Tragedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The court martial of Col. William M. Banks, to begin some time after July 17 at Stewart Air Force Base, Newburgh, N.Y., will be open to newsmen, the Air Force says.

However, newsmen would be barred if secret testimony is given on the operation of a Texas tower radar station that collapsed Jan. 15 off the New Jersey coast, the Air Force said (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

The charges against Banks, who was acting commander of the Boston Air Defense sector headquarters at Stewart AFB, stem from the tower collapse. All 28 men on the tower were lost in the Atlantic Ocean.

Banks is charged with failing to:

Keep himself advised of a threatening situation.

Maintain contact with the officer in charge of the tower.

Hold himself in readiness for any action necessary.

Welfare Reform Indicated If New Law Fails to Work

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Drastic reforms of state welfare regulations are in prospect unless a welfare law that goes into effect today is enforced strictly, Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney says.

The Republican senator, who was blocked by Gov. Rockefeller in his effort to write a residency requirement into the new law, said Friday he would resume his fight if local welfare officials did not exert the authority given them by the statute.

It sets up standards by which the local officials may decide whether newcomers to the state came solely to live off relief rolls.

A survey showed that expenditures totaled $68 for each New York resident for education and $29 for welfare, Levitt said.

After waiting in vain for rescuers under a blinding hot sun, Hartman "went crazy on the second day," Terry said.

"He started falling in the water and the raft turned over," the boy added.

He fell asleep, Terry said, and when he awoke, Bradford was dead. He lashed him to the raft with Hartman and drifted on.

He slept most of the time aboard the sub and spoke little of his ordeal. He came ashore in a stretcher, sunburned and shoeless.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Independence Day "ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty," wrote John Adams.

The Declaration of Independence itself makes a declaration of faith when it appeals, "to the Supreme Judge of the World for the rectitude of our intentions," and when it places, "a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence."

When the Liberty Bell pealed the news of the Declaration, it sounded the meaning of Moses' words long inscribed on it: "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof."

Samuel Adams echoed the sounds in a prophecy of freedom and faith: "Driven from every other corner of the earth, freedom of thought and the right of private judgment in matters of conscience direct their course to this happy country...Be this the seat of UNBOUNDED RELIGIOUS FREEDOM! She will bring with her...Industry, Wisdom, and Commerce."

Former Upstate Methodist Leader Is Heart Victim

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Rev. Harold Griffis, former superintendent of the Albany and Troy Districts of the Troy Methodist Conference, died in his home Friday of a heart attack. He was 58.

He was pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Albany and formerly served churches in Jonesville, Amsterdam and Troy, N.Y., and Williamstown, Mass.

The Rev. Mr. Griffis was born in Gloversville and was graduated from Wesleyan University.

He was a former grand chaplain of the Masonic Grand Lodge of New York State.

Student Pastor Named to Be at Fair St. Church

The Fair Street Reformed Church will have Donald A. Maxim as its summer student pastor during July and August. Mr. Maxim will be a senior at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in the fall, when he resumes his studies.

He comes to Kingston after completing a year of internship at the Trinity Reformed Church in West New York, N.J. In this year away from school he was involved in the total program of the church having responsibility in every aspect of the ministry of the church. The church was directly across the river from New York City in a distinctly metropolitan area.

In addition to this experience, he has also served in both foreign and domestic roles. Upon graduation from Hope College in 1955 he left the United States to begin a three year "short-term" mission assignment to the American Mission Boy's School in Basrah, Iraq. Here he taught English and was in charge of the athletic program for the Arab boys of the school. During his three years, he had opportunity to travel through the Middle East on his vacations.

After returning to America and beginning seminary, he was assigned to do work with Spanish-American migrants in southeastern Colorado upon completion of his first year of school.

Mr. Maxim grew up as a minister's son living in Illinois, in Rochester, N.Y., area and in Kalamazoo, Mich. His wife is from New Jersey. They will be living in the Christian Education Building of the church. During July Mr. Maxim will conduct the worship services while the Rev. Edwin C. Coon vacations in Colorado. In August, both Mr. and Mrs. Maxim will serve on the staff of the daily vacation Bible school of the Fair Street church.

10 Area Explorer Scouts Attended Syracuse Parley

Explorers of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, had a wonderful experience in democracy recently at Syracuse, Clifford A. Henze of Hurley, president of the council said today.

He referred to 10 Rip Van Winkle Explorers who attended the first regional elected explorer delegate conference held recently at Syracuse University. They were among 800 Explorers representing the Scout councils of Region 2, Boy Scouts of America comprised of New York and New Jersey.

They are: Arthur Casey and Ronald Williams of Explorer Post 12, Kingston; John Morris and Glenn Martin of Explorer Post 77, New Paltz; Joseph Matthews and Scott Yeager of Explorer Post 78, New Paltz; James Dolan and Jerry Doolittle of Explorer Post 176, Wallkill; Alan Johnson and James McMahon of Explorer Post 141, Catskill.

Adult leaders of the Rip Van Winkle Council delegation were District Scout Executive John Vliet of Catskill and Robert Engle, Associate Advisor of Post 176, Wallkill.

Henze said that 12 regional conferences across the nation were organized, planned and recently conducted by Explorers, the high school age program of the Boy Scouts of America. They were aided by a few adult advisors.

"In spite of fear that some adults have for putting things into the hands of teenage boys," he said, "this was done across the nation and the results have been terrific." The conferences turned out better than anyone expected, he added.

Two Cyclists Escape Serious Injury Friday

Two cyclists in separate accidents Friday afternoon in which both struck cars, escaped serious injury, Kingston police reported.

Mrs. Ida May Bell, 28, of 53 Murray Street was riding a bicycle on East Union Street, near the intersection of Hasbrouck Avenue when in collision with a parked vehicle at that point, police reported. She was treated and released at Kingston Hospital.

The car was owned by Sue McNeirin of 195 North Street. The mishap occurred at about 3:30 p.m.

Earlier in the day at about 1:35 p.m. Robert Reinhardt, 12, of 176 Clifton Avenue drove his bicycle out of West Union Street into a car proceeding on Wurts Street. The boy was treated by his own physician, Kingston police reported.

The car was operated by James W. Glennon, 59, of 26 Wilbur Avenue. The bicycle was broken in half, police said. Patrolmen Richard Scherer and James Amato investigated both accidents.

2 Claim Kinship To Revolutionary War Veterans

FINDLEY LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—Maine woman's claim to be the only living granddaughter of a Revolutionary War veteran has been disputed by a 78-year-old woman here who claims her grandfather fought in the Revolution too.

Mrs. Elma Iva Emory of this Western New York community claims her grandfather, Augur Hyde, fought in battles and skirmishes at White Plains, Long Island, Harlem Heights, Trenton and Princeton.

He enlisted in the Revolutionary Army in 1776 and served more than a year, she said, and at his death in 1831 the Daughters of the American Revolution put a monument at his grave at Otis, Mass.

The Maine Legislature on June 17 awarded a pension to 88-year-old Mrs. Katie Libby of Charlton, who said she is the only living granddaughter of a Revolutionary soldier.

Mrs. Emory said her father fought in the Mexican and Civil Wars.

Q—"Should shares of General Dynamics, bought three years ago at substantially higher prices, be retained?" F.B., A.B., W.P., H.P.

A—No, I think that you have held this stock long enough.

General Dynamics earnings have been on the downgrade since 1957, and no sharp reversal is in sight—notwithstanding a better climate for defense business. Despite huge sales gains, the trend in operating margins has been downward for the last ten years.

In 1960, the company took heavy write-offs against its commercial jet transport program and reported a deficit of $2.71 a share. While rising sales and better margins are expected this year, it is very doubtful that earnings will get back to the better than $4 a share level recorded in 1956 and 1957.

The dividend cut in half last year was omitted entirely by company directors a week ago. So I think the outlook for General Dynamics remains poor, and I believe that it would be sound policy to switch in to a more promising situation.

I think that you will be able to do much better in Cessna Aircraft (NYSE), a prominent manufacturer of commercial and private aircraft with a lesser stake in military business. Cessna has had a rising trend in earnings, dividends, and share levels for several years; and I expect this trend to continue.

Q—"I am 70 years old and have been reading your column for some time. I'm thinking of investing in Standard Oil of New Jersey (NYSE) and would appreciate your opinion." R.H.

A—I feel that Standard Oil of New Jersey (NYSE) is quite suitable for you. One of the bluest of the blue chips, Jersey affords a good yield and ought to give you moderate appreciation over a few years' time.

Mohawk Lists Aims

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Mohawk Airlines proposes to establish reservation centers in Syracuse and New York and, at the end of two years, consolidate the operations into systemwide reservation center at Syracuse.

Robert E. Peach, president of the Utica-based airline, said Friday night the Syracuse operation eventually would employ about 400 persons and have an annual payroll of nearly $2 million.

It will tie in reservations and other types of service for the 47 cities served by Mohawk, Peach said.

TRANSLATING A DREAM

There is a kind of inevitability, now, about man's venturing to the moon. Once such a journey was the stuff of dreams, of science fiction. Now the dream is being translated, day by day, into detailed reality. The question now is not whether man will reach the moon, but when.

This evaluation is borne out by a whole complex of events. Whereas only a few years ago the idea of seriously planning a lunar base was generally treated as a joke, many able men are now devoting full time to such things. Myriad problems of getting men to the moon and back, and equipping them for the journey and for useful activity when they arrive, are being dealt with — not in hypothetical papers to be read at scientific meetings, but in terms of actuality.

The first lunonauts (to coin a word) will not be venturing into completely unknown territory. Thanks to intensive efforts that have already been going on for more than two years, they will know a great deal about the area they will explore. Using a telescope in the Pyrenees mountains of France, experts financed by the U.S. Army have been fashioning a detailed photomap of the moon. Soon an even better instrument will enable them to see objects on the moon only 300 yards across. What this telescope shows, and what scientists are able to deduce from its sightings, will be digested and made available to the lunar project crew.

The United States attempt to reach the moon is, in short, a full-fledged undertaking. President Kennedy's remarks to Congress on the subject have given it new impetus. Like it or not, we're on the way.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A BIT TOO SHY

It is being planned by some very astute planners in the State Department to get Red China into the General Assembly of the United Nations. Actually, there have been discussions with some other countries about the prospect of working out a two Chinese scheme at the next session of the United Nations.

The astute planners do not expect Red China to accept what Mao Tze-tung would be an ignominious position. Red China wants China's permanent seat on the Security Council which would give to Red China the power of the veto. It is very doubtful if Red China will settle for less. Certainly Mao-Tze-tung would not agree to be limited to the General Assembly while Chiang Kai-shek's representative sits on the Security Council.

The scheme then is for the Western Powers to make this proposition to Red China; that Red China will inevitably reject the offer; that it will please India and the neutrals that the offer was made to Red China; it will leave Soviet Russia without an excuse for quarreling over this issue; it would give Red China a bad reputation because Red China rejected the offer.

Of course, the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa would lose face and its position throughout Asia would be reduced to a nullity. This does not bother the schemers who feel that they are important planners of mankind's future. They feel that Formosa ought to be happy that Red China is caught in a trap.

There is a tale of a great rabbi who travelled about delivering sermons on what is right and what is wrong. Men came from far and near to listen to the rabbi. One day, in a very small synagogue in a very small town, the rabbi was telling the townspeople what they should do and how they should live and everybody wondered at the enormous scholarship and the noble character of the rabbi. However, there was a shoemaker in the very back seats, the shoemaker being regarded as an ignorant man who did not know this or that. Nevertheless, the shoemaker rose and said that he wanted to ask a question. The congregation was in consternation. How dared a lowly shoemaker deign to ask the great rabbi a question? It was demanded that he sit down. The rabbi insisted that the shoemaker ask his question.

The shoemaker said: "I am an ignorant man who cannot read and cannot write and has never been to a school. Nevertheless, I have lived long and seen much. Therefore, I want to ask, 'Suppose it is just the opposite?'"

"My son, suppose what is just the opposite?" "How should I know?" answered the shoemaker. "I am ignorant. Nevertheless I ask, suppose everything is just the opposite?"

I could not help thinking of this story as the work of the State Department geniuses enfolded in their what would happen to all this scheming and plotting and planning if Red China did accept a seat in the General Assembly ignoring the loss of face of not having the permanent seat on the Security Council? What would happen if Marshal Chen Yi or Premier Chou En-lai came to the United Nations to turn the General Assembly into a brawl?

Of course, the great men would then find enormous fault with Red China just as nowadays these same great men who helped Castro rise to power now denounce the rascal and even tried to make war on him — a stupidly planned war, it is true, but nevertheless they sat about scheming on how to do it when they might have brought in a Marine Corps corporal to give them expert direction.

Unfortunately, when schemes are overdone and plans are obviously unsound only bankruptcy can result. Red China is now economically and socially in very bad shape. A rising antipathy to the Communist government is apparent to all who recognize the signs of mass disturbance. The power of the Red Chinese government is being weakened by famine rather than by politics.

It is at just such a moment that the very smart amateurs in the State Department seek to pull out Red China, strengthen its position in Asia, give it new powers over its own people and prestige throughout the world.

Does it make sense?

The Mature Parent

'Loving Parents' Ofttimes Exile Own Ambitions

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
Since my youngest son's marriage I have been lonelier than I've ever been in my life. Though my husband is a good man, it doesn't seem important anymore. My doctor says depression is natural at my time of life. I don't know what he means. I just know that you give your life to children and suddenly you're alone. What does it add up to . . .

ANSWER: It adds up to the fact that you can only use your energy in other people's behalf. It means that the very idea of having to use it for yourself fills you with heaviness and apathy.

Such depression is common middle-aged experience in America where "loving" other people is the answer to everything.

It's time we knew that this "love" we're so anxious to shower on children is the way we avoid exploring great, dark, unknown territories in ourselves.

For example, we'll struggle hard to get our daughter music lessons without ever knowing that the struggle is our own ambition to outshine others. We'll give her an expensive wedding and remain quite unaware that the gift expresses our wish for social power. We'll borrow on our insurance policy to keep Jim in college though we'd prefer to use the money to buy stocks. To maintain our view of ourselves as "loving" and generous, we exile our own ambitions, our "selfish" wishes, to the dark part of ourselves we never dare to explore. Then the children leave us.

No wonder we fall into depression. No wonder we think "What's the use of living?" Our living has been as restricted as the living of medieval people who thought the world ended at the Mediterranean Sea.

But if we can question the values that have denied us access to our own ambitions, our energy revives. We can think:

"Yes, I'd like to fight Mrs. Jones good and hard for the Women's Club vice presidency. Yes, I enjoy involving myself in politics and meeting the important people who come to town. . . . Yes, it would be fun to brush up on my music not only because I like music but because I like impressing my friends."

We can begin to open up those forbidden, unexplored parts of ourselves that don't jibe with the picture of the "loving" parent ambitious only for his children.

It isn't easy to do. You may find it easier to remain depressed than to realize you've lived half-dead for much of your life.

defense purposes.

Our Communist enemies will certainly welcome a new wave of inflation, if it comes. They have long argued that this and other capitalist countries will destroy themselves from within — and no weapon has a greater destructive potential than constant inflation. On the other hand, those who want to keep America strong will oppose inflation with every device we possess — none of which is more important than government economy and balanced budgets. Some $8 billion would go for non-

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda had good reasons for answering all questions at a National Press Club luncheon through his interpreter, even though he knows English.

"I had to promise the Japanese reporters who flew here with me that I would speak only Japanese," he whispered to Club President John Cosgrove. "To make sure I keep my promise, they made me agree to pay them 10 dollars for every English word I use. If I don't use the interpreter it's going to be a pretty expensive lunch."

AS GUEST-OF-HONOR Larian Cardinal Ruggambwa of Tanganyika was preparing to eat at another Press Club luncheon, Cosgrove asked him if he was satisfied with the day's menu. "If you want something else, we will be happy to fix it," Cosgrove said.

"I don't think you serve my favorite dish here," replied the first African to be named to the College of Cardinals. "It's chicken and mashed bananas."

A RECENT SENATE debate on a bill to provide federal money for preserving open space in urban areas brought forth this oratorical gem from Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.):

"I have walked in Central Park in the moonlight in New York and watched the moon, drenched with moonbeams, filled with romance. I thought it was one of the greatest areas in the country. And not a dollar from the federal treasury was used for the development of Central Park."

Later Sen. John Carroll (D-Colo.) came to the defense of the measure by saying:

The June city parking meter total was reported at $3,450.

Fourteen persons were reported injured in six city traffic mishaps.

The time was Sunday, August 24, 1862, and the occasion was the departure from Kingston of Col. George H. Sharpe's newly organized One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment, New York State Volunteer Infantry. Its ranks being full—941 officers and men—the unit had been mustered in on the 22nd and our Boys in Blue were now bivouacked in the streets until the morning of August 28 when they crossed the Long Bridge over the Potowmac and made their first camp at Arlington on the estate of General Robert E. Lee. The trip south probably was enjoyed by most of the soldiers, sitting and standing at the open doors of the box cars and taking in the scenery of a strange land. Young fellows from the mountains of Shandaken, Hardenburgh and Denning, and the Mountain Top area of western Greene County especially were having themselves a time, marching through big cities and riding on the cars.

Preparations for the seizure of the National Capital had been made in secret and the people of the North knew nothing about it until the Confederates were about ready to begin the attack. That the time for it had arrived now became apparent. The tumult and the fury of Second Bull Run began on the very day that Ulster County's second offering to the Union cause began their assignment of guarding the approaches to Washington. Troop trains from all over the Northeastern states were rumbling Southward, bearing their quotas of volunteers which Lincoln had asked for in his call for 300,000 more men. Colonel George H. Sharpe's infantrymen from their camp at Arlington could hear the booming of artillery as the all but disastrous engagement at Bull Run, or Manassas, got underway, and they knew that comrades and friends in Ulster County's 20th Regiment were in the thick of the fighting there.

And just as the Old Twentieth became acquainted with the "City of Brotherly Love" hospitality accorded all Union soldiers passing that way. After marching through the city, the regiment found box cars awaiting them for transportation to Baltimore where they arrived at four in the afternoon to board another train for Washington. Had

At Paltz Central

Seventy-nine members of the senior class, the largest class in the history of the school, received diplomas at the graduation exercises at the New Paltz Central High School this week.

The main speaker was Rabbi Herbert L. Bloom, of Temple Emanuel, Kingston. Rabbi Bloom holds degrees from Columbia, the Sorbonne, two Jewish Universities and is prison chaplain in three New York State institutions.

His subject was "Is the Study of Science a Complete Education?"

David Salkever delivered the valedictory address. His talk was concerned with the civil rights in the United States, and he spoke of segregation and the problems of minority groups.

Oscar Kaelin delivered the salutatory address. He stated that "we are far from where we started, but at the beginning of what lies ahead." He said that the young people today should not think the world owes them a living, rather they should be willing to give something even if they get nothing in return.

Fredrick Dipple, supervising principal presented the graduating class, and John Ashton Jr., president of the School Board, awarded the diplomas assisted by Raymond Buckley, high school principal.

Fourty-six of the graduates have been accepted by institutions of higher learning; five will enlist in the Armed Forces. Thirteen have been awarded scholarships, and five have accepted positions.

The Rev. Dudley Bennett of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church gave the invocation and benediction. Thomas Cotton, one of the graduates offered a trombone selection, and the Senior Chorus sang.

165 in this locality a mulch cow was sold to Jacob Kip for 150 gldrs. Two mulch goats and a young buck about one year old bought by Albert Govertsen, for which Jan Willemse and Walran gave securities for 64 gldrs. Thomas Chambers took a golden buck for 22 gldrs. I wonder if that was the famous Thomas Chambers of this locality, Jan Jansen V. Onsterhout, "Some chickens, as many as shall be found, 9 gldrs." Willem Beeckman, "Some pigeons under condition that they shall remain in the cot until the guardians shall find that they become a nuisance . . . 15 gldrs." It is interesting to see that there were pigeons, chickens, etc., around there then, in 1665.

I see the ladies attended this exciting auction sale also, for Mrs. Bloms bought "a small bag with pepper, and small box with thimbles, needles and other (things) for 13 gldrs." Jan Joesten bought a large copper kettle for 40 gldrs. Albert Coertsen bought a small mended copper kettle for 6 gldrs.

William Beeckman bought an old broken waffle iron for 2 gldrs. Roelof Swarwou bought a tick-tack board with the pieces for 8 gldrs. Aert Martensen bought three deer skins for chair cushions for 1 gldrs. Everett Pels bought "a bottle of vinegar and a can with oil, not known what kind of oil . . . 11 gldrs." Roelof Hendricks bought "A window cleaner, a brush, two pot-cleaners . . . 3 gldrs." Jan Brabander took "a wash tub, a chopping board, an empty keg for 6 gldrs."

What Play Best to Make Slam?

By OSWALD JACOBY

When this hand was played about 20 years ago it was the subject of tremendous analytical argument as to the best play. Everyone agreed that six no-trump was not the best contract, so I won't discuss the bidding.

The play started out simply. South won the opening heart lead in dummy and discarded his low diamond and one club on the ace and king of spades. Then he led a club and when East had to play an honor the slam made.

South had planned to rise with the ace of clubs if East had played low and would have made his slam against any 2-club break; any singleton club honor; the doubleton king-queen in back of him and the actual holding.

One group of experts claimed that South should have played the queen of spades from dummy also. If he dropped the jack, he would make a grand slam. If he failed to drop the jack he could still make the same club play.

What was the best line of play? It was to cash that queen of spades and then to base the club play on which opponent showed out. Incidentally, if anyone wants a full mathematical analysis he will have to ask some one else. I am not going to give it.

Parole Officer, Judge Disagree On Tax-Dodging

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A federal judge holds that serious illness may lead to tax-dodging. But a federal parole officer says it is the tax-dodging that leads to serious illness.

Judge James T. Foley of U. S. District Court says he has found a pattern of sick men coming before him charged with tax evasion or failure to file income-tax returns.

"It's almost as if that operation or attack is a signal that makes a man want to build his estate as fast as he possibly can," Foley said in an interview.

Frank T. Waterson, a parole officer who conducts pre-sentence investigations of tax dodgers, said the strain a man undergoes between the time his accounts are investigated and the time he stands trial gives rise to heart ailments, stomach ulcers and gall bladder attacks.

Foley said "sometimes I think that once a man has some sort of serious illness he gets a little selfish. He realizes he isn't going to live forever. So he figures he owes it to himself to keep as much of the money he earns as he can."

Waterson described tax dodgers as men "waiting for the ax to fall."

The parole officer added, "It is at least a year after the auditors start to go over his books," Waterson said, "before a grand jury indicted him. And over that period of time the tax evader is worried. He knows it's going to happen. That's reason enough for a man to get sick."

Waterson said the doctors and lawyers were the chief tax offenders in New York's Northern District.

He said conviction on tax-dodging charges usually does not adversely affect the careers of professional men.

"Lawyers aren't frequently disbarred and doctors still go on practicing," he said.

taken up arms in the service of the shiek.

Correspondents estimated that more than 3,000 tribesmen passed through in one hour bound for the border. Newsmen were stopped by police 45 miles north of the capital and prevented from heading for the border region 50 miles farther north.

Border Is Closed

The border was closed Friday night for the first time since the crisis was touched off by Iraq's claim to Kuwait, which attained full independence from Britain only two weeks ago.

Hundreds of Bedouin tribal chiefs, flanked by bodyguards and retainers, rushed to Naif Palace where Kuwait's ruler, Sheik Abdulla bin Sa'ud al-Sabah, has been conferring with advisors over the threat posed by Iraqi Premier Abdal Karim Kassem.

Volunteers Arrive

Mrs. Connolly's civic activities and achievements have been limited. She has long been interested in teaching and educational problems and has served as chairman of the Mid-Hudson School Board Institute, an association of members serving on boards of education in Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Rockland Counties.

She has for a number of years taken an active part in the Ulster County Heart Chapter, having served at one time as its chairman, and earlier this year was elected chairman of the board of directors of the New York State Heart Assembly, Inc., at its 10th annual meeting in Buffalo.

She had previously served the Heart Assembly as secretary, member of the board and executive committee, delegate from New York State to the American Heart Association and as a member of the budget committee.

Headed College Women

She is a past president of the Kingston College Women's Club, Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, a national honorary teaching sorority, a past vice-president of the alumna association of the State University College of Education, New Paltz, and past state treasurer of the New York Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

She has also served as a member of the board of directors of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Association, the Cerebral Palsy Association, the Red Cross and the Community Chest. Mrs. Connolly is also a member of the Senate House Board.

Honored by Legion

She was invited last year by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to serve as a member of the New York State Committee of One Hundred for the 1961 White House Conference of Aging. She attended the conference earlier this year at the White House to develop recommendations for research and action in the field of aging.

Mrs. Connolly was also honored at a citizenship dinner sponsored by Kingston Post 150, American Legion, late in 1957, for her service to the community and its citizens.

Vows Peaceful Means

Hatem appealed to the Iraqi people not to endanger the fate of the Arab world by acts springing from personal glory or regional ambition that would invite "imperialist intervention."

The U.S. State Department said Iraq had informed Washington Wednesday it would use only peaceful means in its attempt to take over Kuwait. A spokesman said State Department sources were incorrect in reporting early Friday that Washington had informed London that an attack on Kuwait was imminent.

Lincoln White State Department press officer, said there are 430 U.S. citizens in Kuwait, including six consular officials.

million Moslems would be left in the arid interior.

With the temporary breakdown of the French-rebel peace talks at Evian-Les-Bains, France, and the threat of partition over them, Algeria's Moslems have become increasingly edgy.

Apparently today's sudden eruption of shouting Moslems was the blow-off many feared would occur.

Victory and Defeat for Rayburn

Statistics Indicate Rules Committee Has Lost Punch

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

EDITOR'S NOTE—In January, a test of wills erupted between two strong-willed Democrats—House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rep. Howard W. Smith, chairman of the House Rules Committee. The bone of contention: Control of the committee and the flow of legislation. William F. Arbogast, chief of the Associated Press House staff, tells how Rayburn won the battle but may have lost a vote.

After the increase, voting control of the committee was held by eight Democrats friendly to Rayburn and the Kennedy administration. Previously, it was exercised by two Democrats, Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia and William M. Colmer of Mississippi, along with the four Republicans. Between them they had enough votes to beat any motion to send legislation to the floor. Such a motion loses on a vote.

More fruitful before

Smith, who headed the old conservative coalition and fought the increase, has compiled some statistics indicating that the committee isn't performing according to Rayburn's plans.

On the basis of committee statistics, they have good reason to wonder.

Mr. Sam Behind It

The "packing"—ordered by a 217-212 vote of the House—increased the committee membership from eight Democrats and four Republicans to 10 Democrats and five Republicans. It was engineered by Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., with the support of the Kennedy administration. Its purpose was to prevent the committee from bottling up legislation and denying the House a chance to vote on it.

A FARMER'S PROTEST—Farmer William T. Smith displays sign on Cadillac he bought with $6,500 the government is paying him for keeping 104 acres out of corn production at Big Flats, N. Y.

Crop-Control Funds Provide Upstate Farmer With Cadillac

BIG FLAT, N. Y. (AP)—For $3,049, the remainder of the $6,500 was to be paid later.

Naturally, he didn't divert his best land from production. Instead, he selected 104 acres from which he "was lucky to get a yield of 65 bushels per acre."

Under the program he cannot use the diverted land for grazing or harvest of silage or corn until Dec. 31, 1961.

How will Smith's farm fare? "I'll fertilize and take good care of the 158 acres I planted in corn this year, and I'll probably grow just as much without the diverted acreage," he said.

Will Plant Wheat

"Then this fall I'll plant a wheat crop on some of the diverted land. It won't be harvested until next year, so I'll be following the program. Meanwhile, the weeds are having a ball."

Smith tells of a farmer near him who also is participating in the corn bank program.

"He's planted strawberries on the land he put into the program. The berries won't be harvested until next year since they take a year to produce. The money he's collecting is a real gift; he's getting paid to divert land that wouldn't produce for a year anyway."

In Chemung County, 132 of 250 eligible corn-growers have received $36,925 in advance payments for diverting from production 1,633 acres of land. Total payments will amount to about $75,000, the ASC office says.

Explain Object

"If (the program) has stopped the production of corn, then it's a success. That's the object of the program."

The owner of a 1,200-acre dairy and poultry farm at Big Flats, Smith was notified early this year of the new, one-year volunteer program designed to cut production of corn and sorghum, thereby reducing government storage of feed grains.

He visited the county ASC office to investigate and was asked whether he had grown corn in 1959 or 1960. He had planted an average of 262 acres in those years, with an average yield per acre of 100 bushels.

He was told he was eligible for the government program and could divert any 40 per cent of his 262 acres.

Levitt May Be Wagner Opponent In Demo Primary

NEW YORK (AP)—Speculation is rife concerning State Comptroller Arthur Levitt as a possible opponent of Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the Democratic primary.

Newspaper reports Friday variously had Levitt already selected by four Democratic leaders and his being "seriously" considered as a mayoral candidate.

Levitt is the only Democrat who holds statewide office.

WILTON, Conn. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Monday in nearby Westport for George Martin Van Slyke, 81, former political editor of the old New York Sun. He died Friday in a nursing home here.

Survivors include a brother, Charles Van Slyke of Carthage, N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—John H. Eikenberg is the new president of Revere Copper & Brass Inc., one of the largest companies in the copper-fabricating industry.

Eikenberg, who had been a vice-president since 1945, was promoted Friday. He succeeds Charles A. MacFie, 65, who reached compulsory retirement age.

Eikenberg joined Revere in 1924 as a clerk in Baltimore.

POLAND LOSES TRY

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The three-nation international control commission for Viet Nam has voted over Communist Poland's objections to take up the question of Red subversion in South Viet Nam.

It is perhaps the most important ruling the group has handed down since it was set up by the 1954 Geneva agreement to supervise the truce which divided this nation with the Communists controlling the north and a pro-Western government in the south.

Bonus — Persons desiring information concerning World War I adjusted service bonds better known as the WW I Federal Bonus, may address inquiries with respect to the issuance and redemption of such adjusted service bonds to the Chief Division of Loans and Currency, Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C. Information regarding this federal benefit is usually sought in connection with claims for real property tax exemption.

Insurance — Many World War II veterans still hold five-year level premium term National Service Life Insurance policies. The premium on this type of policy increases as the policyholder gets older. Veterans with term policies may convert to another plan of government insurance. Permanent policies have higher premiums but the permanent plan rate, unlike the rate on term insurance which increases every five years, remains the same for the life of the policy. Moreover, permanent plans have a cash value and, therefore, a loan value which enables a policyholder to borrow on his policy if he needs it. There are six types of permanent plan National Service Life Insurance policies: ordinary life, 30 pay life, 20 pay life, endowment at age 65, endowment at age 60, and 20 year endowment. Complete information and assistance in applying for government insurance conversion may be obtained from this agency.

GI Bill — A person whose only period of military duty was served in the New York National Guard without any federally recognized active service during a period of war as defined by Veterans Administration regulations is not eligible for loan or education and training benefits under either the World War II or Korean GI bills. Persons who served only in the New York State Guard are not eligible for any benefits administered by the VA.

Service Officers — All correspondence directed to the Main Office of the NYS Division of Veterans Affairs should be addressed to 155 Washington Avenue, New York 10, N. Y. Located at the new address are the Division executive offices, Blind Annuity Unit, Administration and Finance Unit, Bonus Bureau and Research and Publicity Unit.

The counseling office of the Division also has moved to 91 State Street, Albany, N. Y.

Education — The training allowances under the Federal War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act are basically the same for everyone. That is, a trainee's allowance does not increase under the law because he has dependents. An unmarried trainee attending school on a full-time basis, for example, would each receive payments of $110 a month.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency at 32 Main St., Kingston, New York.

Paper Collars Protect Plants From Cutworm

To protect cabbages, tomatoes, peppers and eggplant against that smooth, fleshy, dingy brown caterpillar known as the cutworm, wrap a paper collar around the stems of these plants when setting them out. Use several thicknesses of newspaper or thin cardboard, a few inches above and an inch below the soil level.

Remove Brick Stains

Stains, such as those caused by bricks, can be removed from brick walls by use of a strong vinegar and water combination applied with a stiff wire brush. Mix half a cup of water and half a cup of vinegar. Apply with fairly vigorous strokes of the wire brush, changing direction frequently to penetrate the rough surface.

Milk Program Staying

WASHINGTON (AP)—The special children's milk program will continue for another year.

President Kennedy Friday signed a measure extending the program and also increasing its authorization by $10 million, to a total of $105 million.

Under the program, the Agriculture Department provides two, three or four cents for each half pint of milk above the previous consumption used at non-profit schools, nursery and child-care centers, and similar institutions.

Debris of Garden Good for Mulch

When the early sweet corn, beans or other crops are harvested the foliage and stems may be used as a mulch between and around tomato egg plants, peppers or other crops that are still growing.

Mulching

Mulching to keep the soil cooler and conserve moisture is frequently recommended. The average home gardener may not have enough manure, compost or peat moss available to be of much help in a dry, warm period. By mixing with a cup of water and a cup of vinegar, apply with a stiff wire brush, changing direction frequently to penetrate the rough surface.

Metal Hanger Rods

If your shower curtain rods and closet hanger rods are of metal, or have a painted surface, give them a periodic coating of wax. This will not only save wear and scratches, but it makes hooks and hangers slide easily—and without squeaks and scrapes.

Poland Loses Try

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The three-nation international control commission for Viet Nam has voted over Communist Poland's objections to take up the question of Red subversion in South Viet Nam.

It is perhaps the most important ruling the group has handed down since it was set up by the 1954 Geneva agreement to supervise the truce which divided this nation with the Communists controlling the north and a pro-Western government in the south.

Loses Life in Fall

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—A self-employed painter, Tony Longinotti, 51, was killed Friday when he fell off a 40-foot-high roof of a barn he was painting in suburban Henrietta.

Good Insulator

Why is wood such a good insulator? Architects point out that wood, such as popular Douglas fir used widely for home construction, is made up of millions of tiny cells which contain dead air space. The cells retard the passage of heat and cold,

New Home Has Place to Wash Up Near Garage, Basement

(By Associated Architects)

Like to see house that "belongs" on the land and in the neighborhood where you build it?

It's a new home whose plan is offered today by Associated Architects.

"The Elkey" has long horizontal lines of the roof that give it that ground-hugging effect that so many families prize.

The fact that this is a ranch-type home, whose overall length is 60'-6", also contributes to the impression that this is one house that "grew" where it was built.

Because of its size, you can see that this is a roomy dwelling. Two large bedrooms, a big living room and a full dining room are included, as well as a comfortable kitchen and a lavatory.

The bedrooms have high corner windows that solve the problem of privacy without depriving the rooms of natural light and ventilation.

A short hall connects the sleeping quarters with the bath and the living area of "The Elkey".

Compact as the bath is, it is fully equipped and arranged with the tub away from the window (to avoid drafts) and the door away from the washstand (to keep from bumping up).

There are several points worth noting in this dining room. Its size, for one, means that a dining set can be accommodated. Big windows allow plenty of light to enter the room. And a built-in china cabinet saves the cost of buying a separate piece of furniture and also imparts an air of luxury, as built-ins always do.

Thoughtful design has made the kitchen in "The Elkey" most useful. Moreover, the relation of working areas will save the homemaker steps and may even bring about an added dash to your meals.

The last room, the living room, is large and airy; its light comes from a window wall and much of its charm from a fireplace opposite the entrance to the room.

You do not walk into the living room directly from the outside.

Rather, there is a foyer just inside a covered porch—a foyer which also provides entry to the basement steps, kitchen, garage and lavatory.

The proximity of the lavatory to the garage and basement practically insure clean hands among the men of the family. At least, they'll have no excuses.

Plans for this home are available, with or without basement, from Associated Architects.

The cost is reasonable. When ordering please use the coupon below, and note if you want drawing with basement (cubage 23,000 cubic feet) or without basement (cubage 19,000 cubic feet).

In living area, "The Elkey" occupies 1,100 square feet, plus another 330 square feet for the covered porch and garage.

Plans for this home are available, with or without basement, from Associated Architects.

Baroque Music Fete Slated at Adirondack Colony August 24-26

Under the auspices of the Foundation for Baroque Music, Inc., the third annual Festival of Baroque Music will be held at the Seagle Music Colony, Schroon Lake, Aug. 24, 25, and 26. There will be three evening concerts as well as a lecture on the afternoon of Aug. 26.

The concerts will include a harpsichord recital Aug. 24, chamber music Aug. 25, and an orchestra program Aug. 26. The lecturer on the afternoon of Aug. 26 will be Dr. Jan LaRue, of New York University, who will speak on the study of watermarking in dating early manuscripts.

The baroque era in music lasted from about 1600 to 1750. Appreciation for this music is experiencing a lively revival, as shown by the enthusiastic response of the Adirondack public to the Festivals in 1959 and 1960.

Further information may be obtained by writing the Festival of Baroque Music at 130 West 57th Street, New York 19, N. Y.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service Association, submits the following article:

At this time of year, the odds are better than average that you are planning a reception, shower, or tea . . . for a new, high school or college graduate, an expected baby, or a bride. If this is true, and if your refreshments will feature a cake or cakes, you'll be interested in these suggestions from Mrs. Nancy Tigner, an Extension associate at the New York State College of Home Economics . . . at Cornell University.

Mrs. Tigner says that the women with only limited cake decorating ability can make very attractive, frosted tea cakes. . . .

PRODUCE IN SUMMER

One of the joys of the summer season is the grand array of fresh fruits and vegetables which abound in our markets. Among the fruits which we find only in the summer are the unusual as well as the commonplace. Fresh apricots, figs, mangos, nectarines, and watermelons from distant areas are on the market in the summer but not in the winter. To these are added the ones grown nearby—raspberries, blueberries, sweet and sour cherries, peaches, plums, and prunes.

Unlike fruits, most vegetables are on the market year round. But the heavy supply season for many also comes in the summer. Lima beans, snap beans, beets, sweet corn, cucumbers, eggplant, lettuce, okra, peppers, peas, summer squash, and tomatoes are particularly plentiful in the summer months. We expect limited fresh supplies for some of these vegetables in the winter, and for many of them, depend on their canned or frozen counterparts.

Miss Helen M. Barry was appointed chairman of the Board of trustees and Mrs. Ceil Shoemaker was appointed secretary. Miss Barry appointed Mrs. Kathryn Liscorn and Miss Jane Madden on the auditing committee and Mrs. Lillian Mitchell and Mrs. Agnes Atkins on supplies and property.

Mrs. Julia Hayes and Miss Elizabeth McDonough, chairman and co-chairman of the book project gave the deadline for all gifts as July 22 at Mrs. Hayes home, 634 Delaware Avenue.

Members are asked to save all old clothing for rummage sale which will be held in September. Mrs. Helen Weaver is chairman. Time, date and place of the sale will be announced.

Donations towards the 50th anniversary are now being collected. Members may contact Mrs. Helen Weaver, Mrs. Betty Augustine or Mrs. Margaret Mitchell. Arrangements will be made to call at the home for the donations.

Anyone interested in joining the group going to Canada in July may contact Mrs. Teresa Mayone at RFD 4, Box 244, Saugerties. Transportation and sleeping arrangements and various visits to Canadian shrines will be completely handled by Mrs. Mayone. The first trip leaves July 7 through July 11. Persons going need either a birth certificate or voting card. Any one not a citizen must have passport. The later trip leaves July 21 and returns July 25.

Arrangements are being made for a card party in July. Anyone wishing to contribute an award is asked to contact Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, chairman.

At the exercises the 43 faculty members will be presented to the 300 students by Aaron Copland, faculty chairman. The students will be addressed by Mrs. Serge Koussevitzky, whose late husband was the Boston Symphony Orchestra's former music director and first director of the center, Raymond S. Wilkins, Chief Justice of the Massachusetts Supreme Court and Boston Symphony Orchestra trustee, will also address the students.

The annual exercises will conclude with the traditional performance by the new student body, conducted by Hugh Ross of Randall Thompson's "Allegro," which Mr. Thompson wrote for and dedicated to the Berkshire Music Center at its founding in 1940.

At the Markets

MEAT—Why not try variety meats to your warm weather menus? They are well adapted to summer meals. For example, lamb or calves' liver adapt to quick broiling and beef or pork liver to short time braising. Veal, pork and lamb kidneys also may be broiled in a short time. Order tongue from your butcher, then use it for sandwiches as well as for main dishes. Variety meats are in liberal supply now. They are nutritious. Plan to use variety meats within a day or two after purchase.

FISH—Liberal quantities of cod, haddock and flounder are reported by the Market News Service of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Shellfish to look for include clams, lobsters and scallops.

EGGS—Egg prices are now near their lows for this year. As production declines seasonally during hot weather, prices will rise but not as much as last year.

VEGETABLES—Warm weather has brought surging growth to locally produced greens which dominate the vegetable situation. Add to these radishes, cabbage and snap beans. Beets, celery, green peppers, and potatoes are reasonably priced vegetables.

UNACCOMPANIED WOMEN AT A NIGHT CLUB

Q: Would it be unsuitable for a group of 10 or 12 young women to go to a night club together without men? This group comprises a bridge club and we would like to go out some evening, instead of playing bridge. One of the young women thinks we would look conspicuously out of place. What is your opinion?

A: If you go at the dinner hour and stay for the early show, it would be permissible. But to go late in the evening without any men accompanying you, would be very conspicuous and out of place. In fact, it is quite possible you wouldn't be admitted.

Tips on Arriving at Hotel

Q: I plan on going on a trip shortly and would appreciate your help on the following questions: (1) When I arrive at a hotel and the doorman takes my suitcase from the taxi to the desk, do I tip him or just the bellboy who carries my bags to the room? (2) What is the customary tip given to a bellboy?

A: (1) Very definitely you tip the bellboy and probably the doorman too if he carries your bags any distance. Nothing is given to him if he just puts your bags on the sidewalk. (2) If your bags are many or very heavy, the bellboy is given 50 cents; otherwise 25 cents is sufficient.

Announcing Birth of Second Child

Q: I am expecting my second child soon and wonder what should be done in the way of announcing its arrival. The first time we sent little announcement cards to relatives and friends everywhere. But what is the custom about a second child?

A: It is curious that so many people have the idea that no announcement is made except for a first child. This is in no sense true. It is just as correct to announce each of however many children you are blessed with, by sending birth announcements.

Shokan

Mrs. Willard Squier, Watson Hollow Road, was a Shokan caller Wednesday. She was accompanied here by her New Jersey relatives, Josephine Squier, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Squier and daughters, Betsy and JoAnn, and their friend, Ethel Cook, all of East Orange, N. J.

Several busloads of young people arrived at the big High Point camp on Route 28A near Brodhead Thursday. Earlier in the week a large number of children came up to Camp Hurley down the Esopus Creek from the Ashokan Dam.

Wednesday, Robert Vollmer and Will Shults drove to Granville, near the Vermont line, and brought back eight tons of red slate dust for Raymond Davis.

James Clemens who owns residential properties here, is commander of the recently organized VFW Post 9595. The veterans will hold regular meetings the third Thursday of each month.

Visitors to the local museum of antiques Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Ormond J. Hummon and their son, Timothy, of Hyattsville, Md. The elder Hummon is a veterinarian with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The family were going up Route 28 through the mountains with a view to taking in numerous points of interest in northern New York.

A crew of city employees using a power rig have completed the sizeable job of spraying weeds and grass along the shoulders of the roads in and around the Ashokan Reservoir preserve.

Carl Olson of the village center reports first rate success with his vacation week trout fishing. Fishing mostly in the Schoharie Creek, he easily got his daily limit of trout including one which measured 18 inches.

Mrs. Valdmari Christiansen reportedly has gone to Norway to attend a double wedding of her nieces. She also plans to visit relatives in Sweden and Denmark before returning to Shokan.

Receives Law Degree

... they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

WE hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive to these ends, it is the Right of . . .

—From the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776

EDITORIAL

'An Astonishing Thing'

"WE hold these truths. . . ."

We all know these words. In fact, sometimes it seems that we've heard them so often that we don't always understand their full meaning.

Today, it is easy to take for granted the words in the Declaration of Independence. Living in a free and rich country, it's easy to forget just what a tremendous thing this Declaration was 185 years ago. Then, oppression, not freedom, was taken for granted.

America then was little more than a raw frontier. How fortunate that out of a population smaller than many of our cities today there should come so many brilliant, courageous men who knew the real meaning of human liberty!

Jefferson, and the others who helped him write the Declaration, were products of an age known as the Enlightenment. It is called that because it was a time when men began to place a high value on human reason and on human dignity. The writings of many wise men, both ancient and modern, molded the thinking of the patriots.

Yet at the same time, the 18th century was also an age when kings still held sway, claiming to rule with God's blessing.

It was an age of manners and elegance alongside cruelty and superstition. In some places, "witches" were still being burned.

What an astonishing thing, then—to tell a king that there were certain rights men had that no government could give or take away. . . . That governments should rule only with the consent of the governed. . . . That the people had the right to overthrow an unjust government.

Maybe the most astonishing thing of all is that the Revolution worked! And it did establish justice and freedom for the "pursuit of happiness" for those who came afterward.

There have always been people, even in America, who do not really approve of democracy. They don't really trust free speech—except for themselves—and they can't stand others to have different ideas.

They want to enshrine the Declaration of Independence but they don't want to live it.

But as long as the meaning of the Declaration is taught and understood and believed in, no one can take our freedom away from us. This piece of paper is precious.

One wonders, if we had to start the United States of America all over again today, whether we could write anything half as noble as the Declaration of Independence.

The Spider Sewing Circle

By Frances Gorman Risser

The Spider Sewing Circle meets on every summer day, And all the spider ladies weave, And put upon display, The laciest of draperies Or tablecloths, maybe, For fairy houses, hidden high In every lofty tree Some spiders, fearing that a friend May copy their designs, Hide underneath a maple leaf Or deep within the vines, But others proudly spread lace On every bush in sight, And sprinkle it with dew drop jewels, A present from the night. Even Rover's insistent scratching didn't make the — from its hiding place. We hope when fairy customers On gauzy wings flit by, The spider ladies won't mistake A fairy for a fly!

PLEDGE TO THE FLAG SAW THREE CHANGES

In 1892, 66 million people in the United States were celebrating the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America. In order to mark the date, the World's Columbian Exposition was planned.

Francis Bellamy, a clergyman and editor of a young people's magazine, was chairman of the committee of the national public school celebration in honor of the anniversary.

Bellamy wished to inspire the youth of the nation and to instill in them love and loyalty for that nation.

In the September, 1892, issue of his magazine, he published the following pledge:

"I pledge allegiance to my Flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

It immediately caught on, and was first used officially at the opening of the Columbian Exposition in October.

From that time on, Mr. Bellamy's version became the accepted Pledge of Allegiance.

Three changes took place since.

The first change was made in 1923. At this time, "I pledge allegiance to my Flag," was changed to "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States."

This change was made so that even the foreign-born should have the United States flag in mind, when repeating or hearing it.

In 1924, the words, "of America," were inserted after "I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States."

Not long ago, Representative Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan, introduced a resolution in the House at Washington, D.C. to add the words, "under God," to the Pledge. It was made official on June 14, 1954, under Public Law 396.

This last and perhaps final change, revises the U.S. official Pledge of Allegiance to read:

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

More friends, in a nice way;

When I must look my very best,

I call them, night or day.

First, Harry Hairbrush

Tom Toothbrush shines my grin,

Then Neddie Nailbrush finds clean hands

Where grubby paws have been;

Good Charlie Clothesbrush

Sam shoebrush, on the run,

They can reflect the sun.

Without these friends I

So spic and span, you see—

I take the best of care of them,

For they take care of me!

Who was the biggest bandit

Answer: Atlas—he held up the world.

When a ruler tends to slip on a smooth surface, paste a small piece of sandpaper on each corner in the back, and it will stay put, without using any pressure. You won't lose a ruler, if you drill holes in it to slip over the rings in a loose leaf notebook.

Costello's 151 Wins District Jaycee Golf Tournament

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The traditional midway mark in the golf season points up the tremendous growth in membership at virtually all area clubs. And with this phenomenal hike in membership come the attendant problems created by the golf population explosion.

Our area courses have not yet reached the pressure and frenzy of public courses and never will. But golfers long accustomed to leisurely, unhampered rounds are getting a slight taste of what the public golf must endure in order to play 18 holes.

Golf course traffic is like highway traffic. It must be controlled. If club officials fail to meet the challenge of crowded conditions, the pressure is compounded. Most golfers are intelligent people and will conform to reasonable rules and regulations regarding traffic control. A few dandies may rebel, but in the long run what is best for the majority has to be the rule of the day.

King for a Day:

William (Bill) Davies, the colorful gentleman who served as locker room custodian at Woodstock Country Club, was King for a Day Wednesday night. Now retired, he was hosted at a reception attended by some 50 members of the club. They presented Bill with a purse and a handsome portrait done in the imitable style of Harry Hohnhorst, the current Ulster County Seniors champion. And so ended a saga at Woodstock Country Club. Through the years, Bill Davies had endeared himself to every member who ever climbed the short flight of stairs into the men's locker room. From his perch on the step landing he was master of all he surveyed. Possessed of a sharp, incisive sense of humor, he could charm the truculent and deflate the pompous with one swipe of his tongue. He had travelled around the world as a seaman in his youth and along the way picked up knowledge and class that were betrayed by his modest appearance. He was a fine servant to the Woodstock Country Club members and he had the "book" on all of them. From his perch he had only to watch a player stride from the 9th green up the roadway to the clubhouse and he could write a book. We have had the pleasure of endless hours of pleasant, stimulating conversation with Bill Davies. We salute him. They just don't come like that anymore.

A King Passes on:

The death of Harold F. King removed from the Ulster County golf scene one of its grandest veterans, An Old Lion in the finest tradition. Mr. King had since 1953 been one of the most enthusiastic members of the Ulster County Seniors Golf Association. He had served as president and director and had enjoyed uncanny success in the annual tournaments. His perennial rivalry with Harry Hohnhorst of Woodstock was one of the pleasant sidelights of the 8-year competition. Mr. King won the Class A Seniors title in 1955. On four other occasions, he either won or tied for Class A low net honors. In 1953, first year of the tournament, he posted a remarkable 85-24-61 net. The next year he shot 94-24-70 to tie with Bruff Olin, the Old Oak from Woodstock and in 1957 he carded low net with 90-27-63. Mr. and Mrs. King (the former Dorothy Chipp) were the oldest players in point of continuous membership in the history of The Twaalfskill Club, some 55 or 56 years. In the sports world, Harold F. King had two great loves — golf and the Columbia University football Lions. Through lean and prosperous years (and there were many more than prosperous) he and Mrs. King never missed a home game at Baker Field in New York City. The area golf world and particularly his many friends in the Senior ranks have been saddened by his passing on. His life epitomized the grand attributes of friend, gentleman and golfer.

PATIENCE AND FORTITUDE: Paul Gardiner of Guilford College, N. C., shoots golf in the low 80's. But he recently stepped out of character with a big splash. His first shot on the par-3 Longview Course at the college dropped in the water which guards the green. Paul confidently hit another. It went into the water, too. With less confidence each time, he teed up another . . . and another. By the time he finally got on the green he had dunked 29 balls. He hit the green on his 30th shot and sank the putt. Professional Buck Siler is authority for the fact that Gardiner used 60 strokes on what had to be the most expensive hole in golf history.

Ford Gains 14th Win; Tigers Nip Birds, 6-5

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford gained his 14th victory with a five-hitter, and became the first American League left-hander ever to win eight games in one month, as the New York Yankees beat Washington 5-1 Friday night. That kept the Yanks within two games of the first place Detroit Tigers, who won 6-5 in 12 innings at Baltimore.

Third place Cleveland defeated Boston 10-2, Minnesota beat Kansas City 8-2 and the last place Los Angeles Angels walloped Chicago 10-3 for the White Sox' third straight loss after winning 12 in a row.

Mantle batted in two on an inside-the-park homer as New York came from behind in a three-run sixth inning against loser Dick Donovan (3-8).

Rick Barthel 2nd; Both Advance to State Competition

Beating off a challenge by one of his high school teammates William "Buzzy" Costello captured first place in the District Jaycee qualifying golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 151 Friday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The 1960 champion, who also advanced to the Jaycee International at Waterloo, Iowa, fired a four-over par 76 yesterday to go with an opening 75 at the Twaalfskill Club.

Ricky Barthel, who was even with Costello at the end of two holes Friday, gained the other state berth with a pair of 79s for 158. The remainder of the field trailed by a considerable distance.

Costello and Barthel will represent the Kingston district in the New York State Jaycee competition at Amsterdam Municipal Course on July 30, 31 and Aug. 1. There they will vie for places on the four-man team that will represent New York State in the Jaycee International tournament, Aug. 20-26 at Denver, Colorado.

Lead Vanishes

Costello saw his fourth stroke lead over Barthel vanish on the first two holes Friday when he opened with a double bogey. Barthel parred the first hole and birdied the second.

After they halved the third hole with par fours, Costello moved three strokes ahead when Barthel doubled bogeyed the dogleg fourth hole and bogeyed the par three fifth. Barthel regained two shots when Costello triple bogeyed the par four sixth.

Costello then rallied to finish five, two, four to get back two shots, finishing with a 41 to Barthel's 40.

The Kingston High school ace steadied with a solid one under par 35 on the back nine to pull away from his opponent. He birdied the 12th and 13th holes in succession, bogeyed the 15th and had six pars. Barthel had a lost ball on the 18th for a double bogey six and finished with 39.

Other merchandise prize winners included Ted Boyce 176, Pete Goldfarb 177, David Dean 178 and Tom Barringer 186.

BACKED BY 26 YEARS EXPERIENCE

First in 6 Stormy Years*Educators Take Firm Desegregation Stand

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—For the first time in six stormy years, the National Education Association today stands on a firm platform of support for the Supreme Court's desegregation order of May 1964.

In the last hectic day of a hectic week, the NEA Friday adopted its strongest-ever policy statement on the issue which since 1955 has split Northern and Southern affiliates into bitterly warring camps.

Pledges Support

It took two hours and nine minutes of debate before the NEA's representative assembly could agree on a resolution which pledged "continued support of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on school desegregation."

In comparison to previous conventions, however, harmony was supreme. In the end, the resolution was passed by a large majority, although the white affiliates were solidly against it.

—Elected Mrs. Hazel Blanchard, elementary school principal of Fresno, Calif., vice president and president-elect. Mrs. Blanchard will take over the top NEA post at the Denver convention next summer. She defeated Miss Lucille Carroll, high school teacher from Wooster, Ohio, in the resolution, this is the legislation the NEA wants.

Bars Teacher Strike

—Passed a resolution which in effect bars the use of a strike to enforce salary demands.

—Urged NEA officials to initiate action to meet the growing

City Takes Over

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The luxury estate of the Soviet United Nations delegation went up for auction Friday. There were no takers.

So the city took over the $19,603 tax lien and announced plans to hold it for two years and then take court action to claim the property unless back taxes are paid.

Soviet officials have argued that the 36-acre estate is not subject to a local tax since it housed the U.N. headquarters of the Russian delegation.

educational problems in big cities.

—Approved a motion commanding the Arlington, Va., Education Association for integrating with the Arlington Negro affiliate last month. Arlington was ousted by the parent Virginia Teachers Association for admitting Negroes to its membership, and the NEA also voted to investigate the matter.
